Retired

Mike and Julie Shalley were appointed global missionaries for the Church of the Nazarene to the Republic of South Africa in 1979. In 1984 the Shalleys were transferred to Namibia where they worked until their retirement.

Mike received his B.A. from Olivet Nazarene University in 1971 and his M.A. in Missiology from Nazarene Theological Seminary in 1980. He received a D. Div. from LAEL College and Graduate School in 2000.

Mike received his call to missions at the age of 12. Julie received her call in 1973 while they were pastoring. Prior to their missionary appointment to the Republic of South Africa and later Namibia, the Shalleys pastored in Indiana for five years.

During the years 1984 – 1994, the Shalleys lived in the capital city of Namibia, Windhoek. While in Windhoek they served the church as mission director, district superintendent, church planters and pastor.

Upon their return to Namibia in 1994, the Shalleys pioneered the work of the church in the north of the country. They were responsible for church development, leadership training, outreach programs and serving as district superintendent. In 2008, a national district superintendent was appointed. With this exciting change the Shalleys' assignment focused more on developing Extension Education in Namibia by linking with the Nazarene Theological College of South Africa. Instruction is now being given with a Certificate of Pastoral Ministries as well as Diploma in Theology. Along with serving in this capacity, the Shalleys were working with developing facilities through building and construction.

Mike and Julie are now working with Christian Literature for Africa in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The Shalleys have two adult children: Heather and Adam.
